Celebrating 30 Years of Conservation Partner Success

Since its inception in 1992, Pheasants Forever Calgary has found success through partnerships.

Our very first partnership was with the Alberta Conservation Association (ACA), Nature Conservancy Canada and the Chinook Chapter of Pheasants Forever. We came together to make a land purchase at Peigan Creek near Seven Persons, west of Medicine Hat.

Our next partnership came in 1998, when PF Calgary approached the Eastern Irrigation District to initiate the Partners in Habitat Development (PHD) program. The intent of this partnership was to create, preserve and restore wildlife habitat within southern Alberta while increasing the potential of the agricultural landscape to sustain itself over the long term. The focus was on working with individual producers within the irrigation districts. Partners included irrigation districts, government organizations, conservation organizations and corporate and private individuals.

PF Calgary supported the PHD program through 2010 and during that period:

- Planted over 858,000 trees and shrubs providing food and security cover for a variety of wildlife species.
- Seeded over 870 acres to permanent grass cover, providing nesting and security cover for a variety of bird species.
- Installed 162 kilometres of fencing protecting new and existing habitat from livestock access.

- Assisted in installing 43 water delivery systems providing water to habitat sites.
- Helped create and enhance 14 wetland basins.

As PHD came to a close, the Habitat Legacy Partnership (HLP) was created. The vision for this current partnership is to work collaboratively with other groups to facilitate habitat improvements focused on upland bird nesting, brood rearing, winter protection and connectivity.

Through our partnerships, PF Calgary has proudly played a part in several well-known conservation sites across southern Alberta including:

- Bull Trail Conservation Site
- Chinook Conservation Site
- Circle E
- East Hays Conservation Site
- Hopewell
- Legacy
- Manyberries Creek Conservation Site
- Milk River Ridge Reservoir Water Stewardship Initiative
- Peigan Creek Conservation Site
- Ross Creek Conservation Site
- Silver Sage Conservation Site

Several of these properties have been enhanced with the restoration of wetlands and the seeding of cover and food plots. Visit our Habitat Projects page for more information.

Our most recent focus under HLP is our contribution to the Milk River Ridge Reservoir Water Quality Stewardship Initiative \(MRRRWQSI\). The overall goal of this initiative is the improvement of water quality in the Milk River Ridge Reservoir through the restoration of vegetation along shoreline and riparian areas. The MRRRWQSI initiative consists of nine separate projects that are located around the Waterton-St. Mary Headworks inlet canal and along the shore of Milk River Ridge Reservoir.

The success of the MRRRWQSI has prompted a multi-partner Connectivity Project to address habitat fragmentation, improve water quality and re-establish and enhance wildlife habitat around irrigation features in southern Alberta between Medicine Hat and Lethbridge. Like the MRRRWQSI, this work will benefit agriculture, hunters, anglers and other outdoor enthusiasts.

Another long-time partner of PF Calgary is Ducks Unlimited Canada (DUC). PF Calgary has worked with DUC to help fund:

- The upgrade of ditches, dikes and dams on DUC's Circle E, a 10,000-acre contiguous block of grass between Bow City and Enchant. Circle E features miles and miles of canals feeding 32 basins, totaling 2,000 wetland acres.
- Construction of a winter watering facility at the Hopewell project, the busiest pheasant release site in Alberta. This project facilitates winter grazing for cattle, allowing the vegetation to grow throughout spring and summer. By fall the stand is mature and provides optimal hunting conditions for the release program.

PF Calgary is also a partner in DUC's Marginal Areas Program that focuses on converting small plots of relatively unproductive areas within farmers' fields into perennial cover. These 10-year agreements are a win-win for all prairie biodiversity, but especially for grey partridge.

PF Calgary has long contended that ditches and right-of-ways provide critical upland game bird habitat. To this end we embarked on an awareness campaign known as Save the Edges, drawing attention to the issue of trespass farming. Intact roadside ditches and undeveloped right-of-ways provide a number of benefits to society including carbon sequestration, nutrient filtration, flood attenuation and habitat for pollinators and birds. We met with several counties and municipalities to discuss the issue and now many of them are using our tools and products to help conserve these valuable public spaces.

As of today, PF Calgary has contributed to the purchase of over 6,000 acres of habitat across southern Alberta and to the restoration and enhancement of more than 11,500 acres, all on land that is open to the public for hunting.

These special places will be around for a long time for Albertans to enjoy thanks to these partnerships and our dedicated supporters.

Together, we're making a difference.

Portion of DUC's Circle E project.

SAVE THE EDGES

Where Pheasants Nest

VISIT SAVETHEEDGES.CA

Edge habitat is critical for nesting pheasants.

As southern Alberta emerges from the cold and snow of winter, pheasants begin their annual nesting cycle. Leaving the protective dense thermal cover they seek in winter, often in cattail marshes, roosters start to establish breeding territories. They defend these against other cock birds and will confront intruders, at times including physical combat; the challenger typically backs down, and these confrontations seldom prove fatal. Roosters announce and maintain their territories by crowing, with nearby hens subsequently seeking them out. A brief courtship follows, characterized by the rooster strutting, running, spreading his tail and erecting the red wattles around his eyes.

The hens are responsible for establishing the nest site, usually within dense vegetative cover. Most often nests are located in grassy roadside ditches or right-of-ways, along fencelines, or within wetland edges. These preferred sites underscore the importance of maintaining linear strips of habitat as promoted in the Save the Edges campaign. The nest itself is a natural hollow depression or a bowl that the hen scrapes out, generally six or seven inches wide and a couple inches deep. She lines her nest sparsely, using nearby vegetation or feathers she plucks from her breast.

A hen will lay one egg per day, averaging 12 or so eggs in total. Only once she has completed laying her clutch will she begin to incubate the eggs. During the incubation period, which lasts 23 or 24 days on average, a hen seldom leaves the nest, and then only to feed once or twice daily. Pheasants are strong re-nesters, so if a hen loses her nest to predators or disturbance, she will often start the nesting process over again.

A hen will lay one egg per day, averaging 12 or so eggs in total.

The primary objective of our Save the Edges campaign is to increase awareness of trespass farming, which eliminates these natural non-cropped areas, specifically in roadside ditches and undeveloped right-of-ways. The results of the research described above reinforce the belief that, when left intact, these linear strips of habitat provide a broad suite of societal benefits.

New President Elected to Pheasants Forever Calgary Board

The Board of Director's has a new president since the Annual General Meeting held in March. Please welcome Scott Price and our two new board members.

Scott Price

Scott Price has been running dogs and hunting upland birds in Southern Alberta since the 1980s. He has seen first hand the loss of habitat over the last 35 years and is passionate about its preservation. Scott spends most of the fall wandering around the prairies with his Brittany Spaniels, Rocco and Lexi, chasing partridge, grouse, and pheasant.

He is an avid clay target shooter enjoying skeet, five stand and sporting clays. Scott also enjoys fly fishing, which by his own admission, is a work in progress. He is a strong proponent of helping and teaching the next generation about hunting and introducing them to the wonderful opportunity that Alberta affords. Scott is now retired after spending 35 years in the international oil and gas sector.

Pheasants Forever Calgary Board Welcomes Two New Board Members

Chris McLean

Meet our dedicated conservationist and passionate bird hunter, Chris McLean. As a proud member of Pheasants Forever and an active participant in local chapters of the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association (NAVHDA), Chris works to promote responsible conservation efforts, reducing the consumerism attitude amongst upland hunters, and raising awareness about the importance of preserving our natural habitats and wildlife. One of Chris's greatest hunting joys is watching a well-trained gundog on point in a natural landscape, and his work with NAVHDA has given him the opportunity to train and work with some of the best trainers, hunters and bird dogs around. With a deep respect for nature and a solid commitment to conservation, Chris is a true asset to our organization and a leading voice in the fight to protect our wildlife and natural resources.

Grant MacKenzie

Grant is Chief Legal Officer with Saturn Oil & Gas Inc. and has been a lifelong bird hunter. Grant had a 20-year legal career as a partner at Dentons Canada LLP and previously BD&P LLP and outdoor pursuits have always been an important part of his client relationships. Grant is passionate about hunting and is excited about the future of the sport in Alberta. As a long-time member and supporter of Pheasants Forever, Grant looks forward to introducing his 2 young children into the sport and the demonstrating the value of conservation efforts of the organization to ensure the longevity of the sport for generations to come. He joined the board in 2023.

Pheasants Forever Calgary Board Happy Retirement to Scott Haggins

Since retiring from Cedarglen, Scott is rarely in Calgary, wintering in Arizona, summering in the Okanogan and travelling extensively during the shoulder seasons.

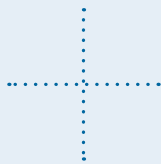

Scott Haggins joined the Pheasants Forever board in 2006, making him the second longest serving board member with 16 years of service. He was an active member who brought his sons Cole and Ward into the conservation arena. Scott successfully operated Cedarglen Homes and Cedarglen Living for most of his professional life.

Scott and his boys have built one of the finest upland gamebird farms in Alberta, near the town of Enchant. Collectively, they've planted thousands upon thousands of shrubs along with food plots and constructed wetlands. Alberta Conservation Association uses the property as a research study area for enhancing upland gamebird habitat.

The Enchant Hilton and property was used for years to host the annual Lethbridge College First Pheasant Mentor Hunt. Scott's pals provided all of the volunteer support needed for the day, while Scott prepared gourmet homemade burgers for the hungry mentees. These events were unforgettable for all involved.

As mentioned, Scott was an active board member and lead with his wallet and is a progressive conservationist, always believing there is a solution to any problem. Although Scott is no longer on the Board we are confident that he will continue to contribute to conservation in Southern Alberta in the future. We wish Scott all the best in his busy retirement years.

The Pheasants Forever - ACA Connection

Formed in 1997, the Alberta Conservation Association (ACA) is a not-for-profit registered charitable organization funded by Alberta's anglers and hunters through license sale levies and corporate partners. The ACA is governed by a multi-stakeholder board of directors, including hunting, fishing and trapping groups, government, industry and the public at large.

Pheasants Forever gained a seat on the ACA board in 2006. Beyond our role in helping govern the ACA, we work collaboratively with them in conserving habitat beneficial to pheasants and other wildlife. Twice each year, ACA publishes their magazine Conservation packed with success stories and issues of interest to the conservation community. ACA also publishes the very popular and handy Alberta Discover Guide which includes many of the projects Pheasants Forever has partnered on over the years.

Public roadside ditches and right-of-ways provide a multitude of benefits.

Naturally-vegetated public roadside ditches and right-of-ways:

- Filter excess nutrients including phosphorous and nitrogen, preventing them from entering our rivers, lakes and groundwater systems.
- Minimize overland flooding by storing, slowing and absorbing excess water, helping to protect roads, culverts and agricultural fields.
- Store thousands of tons of carbon, preventing it from entering the atmosphere.
- Provide homes for pollinators like bees, butterflies, moths and beetles.
- Sustain species that prey on agricultural pests.
- Provide thousands of acres of habitat for grassland-dependent mammals and birds, including pheasants and grey partridge.

Keep public roadside ditches and right-of-ways natural.
